THE TREASURE ISLAND

PART I

This story begins when I, Jim Hawkins, the auth,or was just a little boy and my sick father ran Admiral Benbow Inn on the English Coast .

One day a man calling himself “Captain” but in actual his name was Billy Bones, came in and asked for a room. He stayed with us for several months, even after he ran out all his gold and silver coins. He had a fear of some seafaring men, whom he asked me to look out for. One day these men came and they were after the Billy’s chest, which was lying in his room. I received a first shock when my father died and at the same time, these seafaring men, who were after the chest, killed Billy, the Captain. Me and my mother ran to get hold of the key hidden in his pocket, went straight to his chest and took some coins and a piece of paper from it and ran to Dr. Livesey’s house.
